TINY TORPEDO BOAT SINKS A "JAP" SHIP IN PHILIPPINE BAY

Small But Fast U. S. Craft
Runs Gauntlet of Machine-
Gun Fire

41 SUNK TO DATE

Sinking of 5,000-Ton Ship
Mounts Total of Japanese
Vessels Destroyed

WASHINGTON, June 21—A tiny, fast motor-torpedo boat of the United States Navy dashed into a Philippine bay, the Navy announced last night, ran a gauntlet of machine gun and shore battery fire and torpedoed a 5,000-ton Japanese ship.

The foray of the torpedo boat was apparently intended to support the operations of General Douglas MacArthur against the Japanese on Bataan Peninsula, between Manila Bay and the South China Sea. At the upper end and on the seaward side of the peninsula lies Subic Bay. The attack occurred in Bilanga Bay, which is part of Subic Bay and lies to the seaward side of the upper end of the peninsula.

The 5,000-ton ship, no description of which was given, brought to a total of 41 the number of Japanese vessels which have been destroyed by the American Army, Navy and Marine Corps in a little more than six weeks of fighting.

In command of the torpedo boat was 30-year-old Lieutenant John D. Bulkeley, of New York and Texas. The Navy said he had been commended for

LATEST WAR BULLETINS

American-Philippine Forces Make Raid On Airdrome

Washington—American-Philippine forces, resorting to guerilla warfare, have successfully executed a surprise raid on a Jap-held airdrome in Northern Luzon, scattering its garrison, the War Department reported today. At the same time, the department said, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's main force in North Bataan repelled the Nipponese invaders in "savage fighting." The surprise assault on an air field occurred at Tuguegarao in Cagayan province at the northeastern end of the island. Taken completely unaware, the Jap forces "fled in confusion, leaving 110 dead on the field," the War Department stated.

Argentina May Collaborate Against Axis

Rio de Janeiro—The statement of Acting President Ramon S. Castillo that Argentina will refuse to break with the Axis was "wrongly interpreted," an Argentine spokesman announced today, and all indications were that Argentina will collaborate against the Axis after her elections in April. The spokesman declined to elaborate, but was emphatic in insisting that a wrong interpretation had been placed on Castillo's statement, which brought consternation to the Inter-American Conference of Foreign Ministers. Castillo had been quoted in Buenos Aires as saying, in what was termed a "final statement": "Right or wrong, Argentina will not break off diplomatic relations with Italy, Germany and Japan."

Initiative Taken From Hitler's Hands

Cairo—Reinforcing the Russian front and simultaneously clearing billets to receive the wounded have weakened Nazi forces opposite Turkey to six divisions, of which some are Italians, I. N. S. learned today from a high diplomatic source. This source said that Hitler and the Reichswehr hoped to halt the Russians a fortnight ago and stabilize the front to enable a mass attack on Turkey. But continued Soviet successes and heavy Axis losses plus diversion of a portion of the Luftwaffe to staff off Gen. Erwin Rommel's collapse in Libya took the initiative from Hitler's hands.

Coastwise Convoys Considered

Washington—Coastwise convoys, similar to those used in the first world war, loomed today as a possible answer to the current submarine attacks in Atlantic coastal waters as U. S. naval units smashed at Axis undersea raiders from Newfoundland to Cape Hatteras. While naval officials remained silent about counter measures being employed, it was known that plans to meet a submarine invasion of Western Atlantic waters have been worked out or a long time.

Japanese in Control of Minahassa Area

Batavia—The Netherlands East Indies high command conceded today that the Japanese are in control of the Minahassa area of Celebes Island. It was disclosed that the Japanese used parachute troops in their offensive against the Minahassa Peninsula.

A new war communique said the Japanese paid dearly for their conquest.

Soviet Forces Push Westward

Moscow—Soviet forces tenaciously pushed westward on the central front today after registering one of their most significant triumphs of the war—recapture of the Nazi stronghold of Mzhalsk, 57 miles west of Moscow. Recapture of Mzhalsk, which was announced by the Russian high command, signaled a crushing defeat for the 100,000 picked German troops that had been stationed in the strategic Mzhalsk area.

SELLERSVILLE, Jan. 21—The position of music director of Sellersville-Perkasie public schools is to be filled by February 1st, with announcement being made of the resignation of Andrew H. QUAKERTOWN COUNCIL PARES ITS 1942 BUDGET

Exceeded by $23,000 the Estimated Receipts; Cut It By $26,500

TO ENGAGE HANDY-MAN

QUAKERTOWN, Jan. 21—Due to the fact the proposed 1942 budget for Quakertown borough exceeded by about $23,000 the estimated receipts, it has been pared by approximately $26,500, so the expenditures will be less than the estimated income which is given as $73,000.

Among the items pared at a meeting of borough council was a new fire truck, a $500 item for a new police car, $7,500 for the building of Eighth street, and $400 for the improvement of Mill street.

A $30 a week salary was set for a mechanic and general handy-man to work in the borough building, take care of all borough equipment there and act as fire truck driver during the day time.

Appropriations of $225 and $175 were made, respectively, to Fire Co. No. 1, and West End Fire Company, No. 2, as the semi-annual contribution to the department.

The borough secretary was instructed to contact bidders for the new traffic light system.

One-way traffic in the borough was authorized by a vote of nine to three. The committee was instructed to draw up an ordinance establishing the one-way system and to present the ordinance at the next session.

The burgess' salary was increased from $100 per year to $250 per year; Ruth Moyer, a clerk, by $2 per week, and M. P. Moffett's salary, from $37.50 to $49 per week as superintendent of the electric light plant.

Test For Mr. Nelson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. THE success of Mr. Donald Nelson as supreme director of our war production machine is so clearly vital to all of us that the widespread commendation is not surprising. It is to the interest of everybody that he succeed, and merely enlightened selfishness to do everything possible to help. For, should he fail, the country will be in a pretty bad fix.

IT therefore seems in the national interests that there should be no misunderstanding about Mr. Nelson and his job. And there are certain things which it is well to be frank about at the start. It is not now a question of Mr. Nelson's authority. At long last the President has dele-

TO MAKE ANOTHER SURVEY OF RENTS IN BRISTOL BOROUGH

Second Survey Since September To Be Started Here Soon

REQUIRES ONE WEEK

Results Will Then Be Forwarded To Washington, D. C.

Bristol, in which a survey of rental changes was last made in September, 1941, is one of the key defense cities in which the WPA Division of Research will continue periodic surveys. These surveys are being made at the request of the Office of Price Administration, Office for Emergency Management, in all those cities where significant increases in rental changes were revealed in previous reports.

According to Adolph A. Olmi, who will supervise the present survey, it will determine the number of rents which have changed since September, 1941, amount of increases and decreases, changes in tenancy, changes in structure and facilities and similar information relative to the present rent situation in the borough. This information will be gathered by experienced interviewers who will make personal calls at all the rental units visited in the previous survey.

The rental information thus obtained will be a complete coverage of all rental units in the city.

The previous survey made in September showed that 25.5 per cent of the rental units here had increases in monthly rent since September, 1940, and the average amount of such increases was $2.98. It further showed that the average rent for all the rental units reported had risen to $22 a month.

The field work will be completed in one week and the results mailed to the WPA Division of Research in Washington, where they will be analyzed and final reports written. The Office of Price Administration receives these reports which are essential to that office in affording up-to-date and comparable rental information for all of the key defense cities throughout the country.

These reports will be mailed to local officials and interested civic groups on written request to the WPA Division of Research.

ASK ALL TO CONTRIBUTE TO THE PARALYSIS FUND

Boxes Placed Conveniently In Stores of Bristol For The Contributions

1/2 KEPT IN BUCKS CO.

"Don't pass them by—the little boxes placed in Bristol stores!"

This is the plea of workers who are anxious for everyone to have a share in fighting the dread infantile paralysis.

Funds for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are secured through contributions of pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, half dollars, and larger denominations of money which men, women and children can share in.

One-half of the sums thus secured are retained by the Bucks County infantile paralysis organization, states the Bristol member, Mrs. Theodore B. Megargee, for the fight right here in Bucks County. The other half is passed on to the National Foundation to carry on its work in research, education and epidemics.

The sum kept in Bucks County is used to finance the services of the county unit, and to pay for shoes, braces, crutches for those afflicted with the disease, also for treatments, likewise to fight epidemics.

"You have seen its shadow—with the speed of pestilence it (infantile paralysis) moves through noisy streets and quiet lanes. It knocks at some doors and passes others by. But, moving, it leaves its shadow—twisted, helpless bodies that once were straight and strong. It leaves despair and takes, in grim exchange, hope," state officials of the National Foundation. "Weapons are knowledge, determination and the reasoned generosity of men and women of vision. During the past two years the disease has struck from coast to coast with epidemic force."

From the time of the organization of the National Foundation in 1938 until September 30, 1941, the sum of $1,914,160.19 was used for research, education and emergency aid during epidemics, it is stated.

Residents are asked to do their share, placing whatever they can afford in one of the many boxes for that purpose in stores of the community.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Karl Michel, Cumberland, Md.; a son, Wyatt Ordung, who is with the U. S. Navy in Pacific waters; three step-sons, Walter Johnson, Lancaster; Lester Johnson, Bristol; and Christopher A. Johnson, Tullytown. Her grandson, Gene Mather, resided with her. Mrs. Johnson also leaves a sister and five brothers, one of the brothers, Frank Robare, making his home with the Johnson family here.

Daylight-Saving Time To Start February 9th

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—America will go on daylight-saving time February 9 to conserve electricity for the titanic war effort.

President Roosevelt signed a daylight-saving bill yesterday, and at 2 a. m. (local time) on February 9 the clocks will be turned ahead an hour for the duration of the war. Although the bill applies only to interstate commerce activities and the Federal Government, it is expected to be observed by most of the nation.

Mr. Roosevelt advised Congress last July that the Federal Power Commission figured there would be a saving of 736,282,000—kilowatt-hours of energy annually by putting the nation on year-around daylight saving time.

The bill was similar to that enacted during the First World War and Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said it had the same objective of "greater efficiency in our industrial war effort."

The new act will become ineffective six months after the war ends unless Senate and House adopt a resolution to terminate it at an earlier date.

What will become of crime detection if rubber heels go out?

Take away a detective's rubber heels and what have you got? A patrolman with good teeth and a snap-brim hat.

Achilles was the first house dick and Paris retired him with an executive arrow north of the instep.

"Inside Kiernan" has information and belief that city square-toes will be permitted retreats and hotel sleuths will get priority rating on carpet slippers.

A carpet slipper is ideal for deploying outside a double-occupancy suite rented to one but it loses traction uphill on concrete.

The Government has it fixed so that we can buy old tires with a new tread for 99. This is a distinct saving over nothing and may toe into a refurbished heel program.

War calls for sacrifice and Governor James of Pennsylvania has given up his high-top shoes and joined the oxford group.

Thought for the day: Don't be a heel.

HORSES BUT NO BUGGIES

Now that the rubber market has lost its elasticity, numerous motorists may have to get out and stretch their legs. Not only that. Many New York City firms hit by restrictions on truck and tire purchases are considering affixing Old Dobbins to whatever shays are available and making their deliveries with benefit of chevaux.

But there appears to be little fear that the horse and buggy days are returning. A Jersey City horse company official is quoted as asserting that anyone who thinks so is probably wrong. "There aren't any buggies, it seems."

A Gotham dealer in horses reports that a department store is in the market for 100 horses for use on delivery vans. Horse dealers and stables in the metropolitan area expect a considerable increase in the demand for delivery horses. The only trouble is in obtaining wagons. If bakeries, groceries and laundries seek to use the old-fashioned method in making deliveries, the wagon problem is expected to become acute.

There apparently is a sufficient supply of horses for the present in New York City, the last count of equine noses a year ago having totaled 7,000, a sharp drop from 1919, when there were 75,000 horses feeding there.

If more and more people find themselves without tires or autos, and if they face a buggy and wagon shortage because of priorities on new vehicle building, the conclusion appears inescapable that New Yorkers may be advised to resort to horseback riding on their journey to and from work in areas not supplied with subway or bus transportation.

Perhaps it is this sort of thing that modern prophets, who are legion, are thinking of when they gravely warn that the war will have a profound effect upon the lives of the people. The war may cause many hardships to motorists, but it will serve to brighten the spirits of those who have attributed many evils to automobiles and desired a return of the old ways.

It is fervently to be hoped that they'll like them when they get them.

FRANCE IN THE NEWS

In the nature of things an explosion is due in France and cannot now be long delayed. Hitler must depose Petain at Vichy and take over all France or get ready to recede from the occupied zone save the coast lines. Advent of spring will make a choice by Hitler between the two courses inescapable.

Those who fear that fair weather will end the counter-attack of the Russians do not know the ways of war. The Russians, having tasted victory, are headed for an aggressive thrust against Hitler's hosts in Poland. In meeting the onslaught Hitler will have no troops to spare anywhere, least of all troops to do police duty in France. To withdraw from that country would be to Hitler a humiliating compromise. To assert his power by spreading his supremacy over the whole of France is a course more likely to appeal to him as a gesture of face-saving vanity.

Therefore most observers predict that before the green gets back in the trees Hitler, today definitely in a reversal of fortune, may seize all of France in the hope of fortifying his badly-shaken prestige to meet the oncoming Russians.

FASHION PARADE

By Orry-Kelly

(Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—Lana Turner never wears orchids unless she has the right setting for them. It was an instance of perfect taste when the blue-eyed actress made up her own imitable corsage of white orchids with small whirls of white ostrich plume and pinned it to the shoulder of a white wool dinner dress. For that bit of feminine strategy Lana wins the title of "best-dressed" girl of the week.

The recent turn of world events had its effect on other Hollywood fashions. With everyone talking about "black-outs" Milo Anderson decided to do a "black-out" ensemble for Jane Wyman who asked him to design something unusual for her own wardrobe. Now we've talked about wearing black from head to toe but no one has taken it literally always managing a touch of color somewhere, but Jane's is actually as black as night. Starting from her toes, she wears sandals with broad ankle straps, sheer chiffon hosiery, crepe dress with matched draperies over the left hip and shoulders, a black satin princess coat, felt calot with rings of feathers over the ears and small jet earclips. Her dress is in the new longer daytime length that Milo Anderson likes. Jane even manages to pull a black chiffon handkerchief out of her black bag and powder her nose from an onyx lucite compact carved with blackroom heads.

Billie Burke has decided, however, that now is the time to go as gay as possible. Not that we could imagine Miss Burke ever being anything but gay. That uncontrollable sparkle even manages to get through in her unhappiest moments of "In This Our Life" when she decides to be an invalid and go to bed for good. Miss Burke has favored the "sunny" mid-season shades, those with yellow cast. She achieved a nice combination during this past dreary week with chocolate accessories attuned to a tailored suit of pumpkin yellow softly collared in lynx. Her suit blouse had the odor of spring with its cotton eyelet yoke and Gibson Girl band around the throat.

Among the smart "tricks" pulled this week Lynn Bari's has a future. Lynn has been wearing a slim "Sadie Thompson" skirt in soldier blue and yellow plaid, a white nylon slip-on sweater and a three strand string of pearls tied with a bow of skirt-matching plaid.

The Great Game of Politics

the final answer to everything in much the same way as the new set-up has been.

TRUE, while he started out to live up to his publicity in those early SPAB days he was handicapped by a lack of clearly delegated power, which he does not lack now. Nevertheless, there are reasons which, until Mr. Nelson demonstrates their unsoundness, prevent a feeling of complete confidence in the man. What are the facts? One fact is that while Mr. Nelson unquestionably is an able businessman he is no abler than a number of others who have been in this confused and heretofore headless organization. For example, the President, before SPAB, had made up his mind to name at least two others in preference to Mr. Nelson and whom many thought better fitted.

WHY, then, was Mr. Nelson named? The answer was given at the time, not by critics but by Administration journalists and spokesmen—he was the New Deal's favorite industrialist. More than any other, he had made it his primary business to stand well personally with the little group of White House insiders. He had early endeared himself to them by a radio speech in which he practically adopted the New Deal spending philosophy—and in other ways. How much of his intimate friendship with the "inner circle" was due to calculation or just how much to natural growth it is impossible to say, but the fact is that he was and is an intimate friend. And his selection, first as executive director of this SPAB and now as chairman of the new war board, is rightly attributed to them.

IN particular it is attributed, in informed circles, to the influence of Mr. Harry Hopkins, who lives at the White House. Mr. Hopkins is congenitally unfriendly to businessmen and Mr. Nelson is the only one in the war organization for whom he has achieved a real liking. Most of the businessmen here have been the subject of considerable political sniping by the New Dealers, but never Mr. Nelson. From the start he has been the favorite of the Hopkins group. And not many will contend that he would have been singled out for either his SPAB position or this one if he had not been.

NOW, none of this means that Mr. Nelson will not fully measure up to the great task imposed on him. None of it reflects upon him. What it does, however, is make clear a danger that confronts him. One of the major troubles with these White House insiders is their determination that none whom they dislike shall occupy key positions in the management of the war. The result has been that great many splendidly equipped men who ought to be here have been blacklisted and the place lous boys who were not only defending England, but who were also going out to the attack, were young and brave and alive.

"You're silent today, old girl. What's on the mind?"

"I was thinking," she said, and parried the question, not wishing to say what about. "You'll never guess who I've just been chatting with down on the links."

"Somebody from here?"

"No, from very far away."

"Then I give up. I'm poor at guessing, you know, and there are so many people from very far away."

Wendy found it difficult to be casual, yet somehow she succeeded, answering lightly, "David Hutchinson."

What was this madness? Philip took a sidelong glance at his sister. Had the strain been too much? Were her nerves cracking? Of course, she had seen some of the worst bombings in the Midlands thus far, but the family prided itself on the fact that Bruce never cracked. Yet what she was saying

The ringing of the telephone from the house caught their ear and interrupted this sentence. Philip ran up the steps to answer it, and Wendy waited outside, aimlessly knocking her golf ball about the lawn.

When he came out, the boyish face was flushed with suppressed excitement and his pipe gave off even more smoke than usual. Wendy could see that he was trying, with all the budding manhood within him, to keep calm.

"Orders," he said, his voice catching slightly with emotion. "Orders to join the squadron immediately. They got one of our fellows not far from here, but not before two Me. 109's had come down in flames. They wouldn't tell me our fellow's name. I'll get the two seater ready and say good-bye to mother and father."

Wendy continued to knock the ball aimlessly about the lawn, although most of the time she could hardly see it through her tears.

reeks with incompetents and second-raters. No one knows this better than Mr. Nelson. It is hoped he appreciates what it means. His friends say he does.

WHAT he needs around him now are men of real capacity. He is aware that the best brains are outside, not inside, this Administration—and he knows that political and personal prejudices—some of them in the White House itself—have prevented the use of a number of these men in this national crisis. If Mr. Nelson acquiesces in the policy of his New Deal friends to bar out of any part in the management of the war the people they dislike, he will do himself and the country a great disservice. If he sweeps aside this narrowness and littleness, weeds out the incompetents and calls to his aid the biggest and best men he can find, regardless of how they stand politically or personally with the "inner circle," he will prove himself worthy in the highest degree. And he will get a support from the American people that will give him more power than can be delegated to him any other way. It would be fine to see him rise above these small-bore politicians and disregard their petty spitefulness. There are those who think he will. But it remains to be proved.

Labs farm, Stoneback crawled in the cab of the truck and accompanied Crouthamel on the trip.

At the farm, Crouthamel backed his truck up the incline leading to the main floor of the barn. Stoneback opened the door of the cab and leaned out of the truck to direct the driver.

The truck slid toward the edge of the bridge and slowly turned over on the side, where Stoneback had been sitting. It is believed Stoneback tried to jump clear of the truck when he realized that the truck was turning over, but was too late. Much of the three tons of feed in bags fell on Stoneback and pressed him, face downward, into the snow.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS SCORE FIRST WIN OF REGULAR SEASON

Thirteen Points Scored In The Third Period of Play

FINAL SCORE IS 30 TO 17

Guards Succeed in Holding Mt. Airy Girls in The Third Quarter

Thirteen points in the third period aided the Bristol High School girls to come through with its first win of the regular season on the local floor last night defeating the Pennsylvania School for Deaf girls, 30-17.

For the initial time this season, Coach Kallenbach's lassies clicked at all times. The forwards did some nice shooting and passing among themselves while those unsung heroes, the backcourt girls, did an excellent job in retrieving the ball, guarding their foes, and moving the sphere to the forward court.

In the No. 3 quarter, the Bristol girls raked up 13 points with Genevieve Kwochka getting six and Captain Helen VanAken, five. While all this was going on, the guards succeeded in holding the Mt. Airy girls to a pair of double-deckers both scored by Bertolotto.

Emily Sak, Bristol, and Tryon, of the visiting team played close basketball and both committed four fouls before the fourth period was over and had to replace.

Leading the Cardinal and Gray scorers was Genevieve Kwochka who scored six fielders and a foul for 13 points. Helen VanAken added 10 points to her season's total by registering a quarter to two-pointers and a pair of fouls.

For the losing aggregation, Bertolotto was high with eight points, one more than Captain Junis.

FIORITO DROPS TEN FIELD GOALS, 2 FOULS

"Steve" Fiorito had one of those "on" nights last night on the Mutual Aid floor as he dropped in ten field goals and a pair of fouls to lead Fifth Ward Sporting Club to a one-sided 55-19 victory over St. Ann's A. A.

Fiorito scored from all angles of the court and although closely watched at times managed to be loose enough to count up the 22 points, more than the entire St. Ann's five counted.

Every player on the Fifth Ward team with the exception of Rossi had at least one field goal in the St. Ann's route. "Reds" Pica added six field goals to his season's total while Clem Peterpaul scored eight points.

One of the nineteen points scored by the losing quintet, Mazzillo and Dugan accounted for 12.

BUNNIES COP THIRD TRIUMPH OF SEASON WHEN THEY DEFEAT PENNA. SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF

By Jack Gill

A gala third quarter that found Bristol High School registering thirteen valuable points enabled the Bunnies to cop their third triumph of the season last night over the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf by a 32 to 27 count. Going into their rest period at half-time, the local lads were trailing the Mt. Airy five by a 19 to 14 figure.

Paced by the alert efforts of Jimmy Hopkins, Bristol, went on a third quarter scoring spree to wipe out the invaders five-point lead. The homesters also cut the scoring of Harry Gabriel, whose "push-up" shots accounted for ten of the Deaf School's 19 markers in the first half.

The fray started slowly and the Mutes went into a 6 to 5 first period advantage. The lead changed several times during a fast second quarter, but Gabriel, who did more than blow his horn, let loose with shots from the corners, underneath and from the side to tab ten points. The Yellow and Black took a 19 to 14 lead at the half.

Nick Allen sunk a pretty one-handed stab to open the third session and the lead of the visitors zoomed to 21-14. But Di Angelo and Hopkins brought Bristol back to within striking distance with two successive tosses at 21-18. When Di Angelo hit his mark from the corner, Bristol's stock surged upward, but Gabriel laid one in from underneath to stick the Deaf School into a 23-20 lead. Nick Melidio was good on a layup stab and Allen gained a point on a foul making the count read 24 to 22 in favor of the out-towners.

Bristol, starting with Herrmann's free toss, then took the game in hand. Jim Hopkins followed the foul toss by intercepting a pass under the basket and merely dropping it in to put Bristol into a 25-24 advantage, the first time the locals had led since the second quarter. When Hopkins took a long pass from Di Angelo to tab another easy marker, Bristol went ahead 27-24.

Chick DiAngelo went out on perambulations at the start of the final quarter and the visitors tied the score at 27 all on Camasso's foul and Gabriel's short shot. But Hopkins drew a free throw, made good, Potena tallied a much needed fielder and Hopkins clinched the game with another twin-pointer.

The Cardinal and Grey, in recording their third triumph of the season, played without the services of big Paul Ruby, who was declared ineligible. Then, in the last quarter, when DiAngelo went out of fouls, the winners lacked two of their first string performers. The work of Jimmy Hopkins, Ken Herrmann and Chick Di Angelo was outstanding.

carrying on his mission successfully. After his graduation from Annapolis in 1933, he saw service on large surface vessels but more recently began specializing in submarine chasers and torpedo boats.

The latter, known in the Navy as "PT" boats, are very heavily armed, extremely speedy craft built for just such raids as that credited to Bulkeley and his crew.

Each of these small craft, of which the Navy has several score, carries four .50 calibre machine guns housed in two turrets driven by compressed air, and four 18-inch torpedo tubes. Thus they may be used either for lightning blows against surface ships or for speedy defensive action against low flying airplane attacks.

Each vessel carries a crew of one officer and eight men. The craft are powered by three motors, each of which have a total maximum output of 4,200 horsepower. At top speed the fastest of these craft can make around 70 knots, about 84 land miles an hour. At lower speed, around 50 knots, they can cruise almost indefinitely.

Earliest United States models were about 70 feet long, later models are 77 feet long. Each boat cost about $250,000, a figure approximating the cost of a four-motored bombing airplane. Contributing to this expense is the fact that the boats have double mahogany hulls and that they are equipped with much expensive machinery to produce their extremely high operating speed.

The Navy's communique follows: "Far East: A motor torpedo boat under Admiral Hart's Far Eastern command entered Binanga Bay, inside the entrance to Subic Bay, Philippine Islands, and torpedoed an unidentified vessel of 5,000 tons in a night attack. This small boat carried out its difficult task while under fire of machine guns and three-inch shore batteries. Lieutenant John Bulkeley has been commended for executing his mission successfully."
